

Random Acts of Music

Four In A Chord, a quartet from the Tacoma TotemAires, has a great time delivering Singing Valentines each year. When they have a lunch or dinner break, they would 'feel a song comin' on' and sing wherever they were. This year they met a dozen guys who were interested in singing with them and taught them tags. Three of them have attended rehearsal and plan to return because they had so much fun singing. Through the 'Random Acts of Music,' they have been on Facebook and web pages other than their own, connecting with dozens of people. It has also helped them get out the information about the chorus and we are no longer Tacoma's best kept secret!
